Found

“rich, vital sound ...
... a knack for programming.”
— James Oestreich, New York Times

FOUND: Music in the Age of Exploration

The age of European exploration spread the Renaissance polyphonic tradition, especially in its Iberian flavor, as far as the New World: both its techniques (via manuscripts) and, in some cases, its practitioners – European composers who settled in New Spain. Convivium presents a program of works from both sides of the Atlantic: Guerrero, Victoria, Franco and more.
